SUPPORT THE UKRAINIAN REFUGEE CRISIS

“Our current efforts are focused on supporting civilians trying to flee the War in Ukraine.”

Together, Studebaker Defense Group and The Order of St. George have been able to safeguard and responsibly evacuate at-risk populations across the globe. Our current efforts are focused on supporting civilians trying to flee the War in Ukraine.

We believe that even in a war zone, people should maintain their autonomy and make their own decisions. We arm people with information and provide the options they need to navigate their own path, to include:

- Real-time and accurate information about conditions on the ground to help guide a person’s decision on whether to stay or go.
- Routes for safe passage for those able to self-evacuate.
- Staffed evacuation teams for individuals needing special assistance to reach safe havens.
- Ongoing humanitarian support once refugees arrive to a new host nation.

We believe in the moral and responsible evacuation of those seeking our assistance: we will not deliver someone from immediate danger only to deliver them elsewhere without proper care and support to be successful in resettling. For this reason, among many others, we are always willing to meet with donors who appreciate how interconnected we are in today’s world, and how now more than ever, we must all look out for each other.

In the case of Ukraine in particular, President Zelensky is bravely leading the defense of not only Ukraine, but of our shared democratic ideals. With your support, we can apply further resources to evacuate and shelter more innocent elderly, women and children, allowing the men of fighting age and ability to focus on the battle before them.

We also care for the forgotten and the voiceless, by assisting orphaned and other special-needs children, as well as pets and service animals. Those deciding to remain behind can also benefit from your support through our delivery to them of critical medical and humanitarian supplies into Ukraine's borders.

HUMANITARIAN AID AND REFUGEE EVACUATION

The military offensive in Ukraine has displaced hundreds of thousands of people within the country. In the first week, more than a million refugees from Ukraine crossed borders into neighboring countries

- 1,735,068 refugees had left the country, of which over one million moved to Poland, from Feb. 24 to March 6, 2022 (source: UNHCR)
- The United Nations issued an appeal for $1.7 billion to help with aid efforts, estimating that 12 million people in Ukraine and 4 million refugees could be in need of relief and protection in the coming months

SPECIAL NEEDS CHILDREN

There are over 2.7 million people with disabilities in Ukraine (source: European Disability Forum). The situation for persons with special needs is appalling - shelters are becoming inaccessible, the people managing the institutions have fled leaving people without care, and there is a shortage of medicines

- UNICEF estimates at least 82,000 children are segregated from society, living in institutions, in Ukraine.
- The war would leave many more children abandoned and at risk for sex and labor trafficking, sexual abuse, physical abuse, and other exploitations.

ANIMALS

People fleeing the country are mostly unable to take their pets and service animals along with them; very few shelters are equipped for taking animals

Animal shelters, sanctuaries, and rescue centers are facing food and water crisis

MEDICAL SUPPLIES

Medical care is disrupted, and stocks of medical supplies are dwindling as Ukraine tries to avoid a wider public health crisis brought by the war.

Domestic and international manufacturers, distributors and aid workers are mobilizing to keep pharmacies open and stocked.

Ukraine's deputy health minister asked the Red Cross to urgently organize a "corridor" to ease the flow of aid and medical supplies within Ukraine.
